FORCING BACK AUSTRO-GERMANS

Muscovites, in Statement, Say They Took 1,000 Prisoners

LEMBERG RELIEVED.

Invaders Driven Back Upon Dniester—No Fresh Atempts of Teutons to Invest City Expected.

Petrograd, June 11—Under heavy pressure from the Russian left wing General Linsingen's Austro-German army that attempted to move on Lemberg from the south is being rolled back all along the Dniester. An official statement today reports the capture of 1,000 Austro-Germans in a battle at Ottynia, twelve miles southeast of Stanislau.

The war office admits the evacuation of Stanislau by the Russians. It was explained that to shorten the Russian line and concentrate for an effective defense of Lemberg, the Slav army that operated against Bukowina was withdrawn from the river Pruth district and moved in a northwesterly direction toward Stryj.

Re-enforced by the Bukowina force the Russians under General Ivanoff hurled themselves against General Linsingen's line, driving the enemy back upon the Dniester and then acacross the river. Until the Autro-Germans received re-enforcements no fresh attempt to reach Lemberg from the south is expected here.

West of Shavil on Thursday night and Friday, the enemy renewed his determined attacks on a line extending from the village of Konjilacerakivo to Einoraitsy," says the official statement. The Germans were repeatedly thrown back, leaving piles of dead and wounded on our trench fronts.

Petrograd, June 12.—Thousands of workmen, singing the Russian national anthem, paraded the streets of Moscow, attacking and destroying practically all German shops, factories and residences. Dispatches today said that household goods and furniture were thrown out of the residences and stocks in German stores demolished.

The Moscow authorities wired here that the outbreak was due to indignation over the use of poisonous gas bombs by the Germans.

TUG DEFIANCE ABLAZE.

Threatened With Destruction off the Virginia Capes.

With its engine room ablaze, the tug Defiance, commanded by Capt. Jack Bensten, and owned by the P. Dougherty Company, of Baltimore, had a narrow escape from being destroyed off the Virginia Capes early yesterday morning. The heroic efforts of the tug's crew assisted by the fishing steamers Dorothy Wachter, Essex and Waldo Newcomer, saved the vessel, which was later towed into Norfolk.

The fire started at 7:15 o'clock yesterday morning in the after part of the engine room.

Captain Bensten, fearing that the fire would get beyond control, signalled with the tug's whistle to the fishing steamers which were nearby and with their assistance got the fire under control. The damage to the Defiance is not serious and is confined to the engine room and t he cabin.

The Defiance comes to Alexandria occasionally.

Deeds were placed on record today from C. S. Taylor Burke to Thomas M. Dunbarr transferring 13 acres of land in the northesaern section of the city, and from C. S. Taylor Burke to Max Rosenfeld transferring a row of brick houses on the north side of Duke street between Payne and West streets.

LOST—Between the corner of Cameron and Washington streets to the market this morning, a pair of glasses. Finder please return to 709 Cameron street, and receive reward. 12-3t.

WOULD PURGE HIMSELF

Bryan Issues Appeal to Hyphenated Germans And Tells of Wilson's Intentions

William Jenings Bryan started out last night in an effort to purge himself of treachery against his chief and doubtful patriotism toward his country.

To do this he issued a remarkable "appeal" to the hyphenated Germans—it will be remembered that President Wilson in his Philadelphia spech had knocked the hyphen out of American citizenship—and then started out to tell in advance just what the President intends to do in regard to Great Britain.

He announced definitely that President Wilson intends to insist upon observance of the rights of our shipping on the part of Great Britain, a tipping of the diplomatic hand of this government which cannot but embarrass it in its dealings both with Great Britain and Germany, and which was evidently perpetrated by Mr. Bryan—still under the thinly veiled guise of supporting the President by forcing him to do something against his judgment—in the hope that it might influence the German foreign office in its reception of President Wilson's note of yesterday.

That the deluge of criticism which met, first, Mr. Bryan's resignation under fire, and, second, his Judas like statement published yesterday has had its effect is to be seen from the statement contained in his "appeal" to German-Americans. In this announcement he indorses every stand and principle which the President supports, reiterates much that the President said in explaining in his last note why it was impossible to submit the Lusitania matter to international arbitration, and then having laboriously hoisted himself to the high plane taken by the President thuds to earth again by supporting the Bernstorff-Dernburg-von Jagow contention that the United states separate passengers from ammunition cargoes.

After painstakingly and clearly setting out the rights of the United States and showing how flagrantly rights have been violated, he graciously offers to surrender all these rights to a bloodmad power.

But Mr. Bryan's desire to lighten the stain of treachery on his mantle was not so great as his fanatic zealousness in the cause nearest his heart—the prevention of war—so he floundered further into the mire by disclosing secrets of the Cabinet room and making a palpable bid to German sentiment in this country to get behind him in starting a back fire behind the President. In order to play no favorites, Mr. Bryan wants the back-fire behind the foreign office, too, indicating his intimate grasp of the mental operations of the war lords in Berlin.

GERMAN SECRET SERVICE.

Prominent Teuton Implicated in Lusitania Conspiracy

New York, June 11—Information gathered by Federal agents and United States Attorney Marshall shows that the affidavits of Gustav Stahl and others submitted to the State Department to prove that the Lusitania was a warship were procured through operations of the German secret service. Evidence implicating as a conspirator a prominent member of the German secret service group in the United States may be acted upon next week, and this arrest may be only one of several that are regarded as likely.

As a result of the investigation into the activities of Stahl and his instigators the Federal government is now pretty thoroughly informed as to the German secret service operations, which were begun soon after the war. These operations lead directly to the office of Capt. Boyed, naval attache of the German Embassy at 11 Broadway. Proof is now in the hands of the authorities that the plan for the affidavit regarding the Lusitania originated n the office of oBy-Ed, though this information may never be acted upon in view of the captain's official position.

ITALIANS CLOSING IN UPON GORITZ

Fierce Battle Now Raging West of City on Ten Mile Front

GUNS UPON FLAT CARS

Austrians Running Up and Down Railroad Track Sweeping West Bank of River Isonsa.

Rome, June 12—Three Italian armies are closing in upon Goritz, capital of the Austrian province of that name, and a fierce battle is now raging west of the city upon a ten-mile front

The city is being shelled by Italian batteries stationed north of Mossa The Austrians are replying from a hill directly north of the town and from strongly fortified positions at the bridgehead of the Isonzo.

Bersaglierl forces, which occupied Gradisca, are pressing north and are attempting to cross the river near Rubbia and attack Goritz on the flank. The Austrians have mounted small guns on flat cars and are rushing them up and down the railway on the east bank of the Isonzo, sweeping the west bank with a hot fire.

Six miles northwest of Goritz another Italian force is attempting to cross the river and descend upon the city from the north. Enemy guns on Monte Sano are shrapnelling the Italian forces and shelling their pontoons The battle around Plava has continued for several days, with the Austrians stubbornly resisting.

Cologne, Germany, June 12— The correspondent of the Cologne Gazette attached to the Austrian army head quarters in the south says in a dispatch that the first considerable battle of the war with Italy, has been fought in the region of the Isonzo River, and that it resulted favorably to the Austrians.

The Italians attacked Gorizia, Gradisca and Monfalcone supporting their advance with artillery fire from piece of large and small caliber. The Italian advance, the correspondent says, was checked by the Austrian fire on their flank.

Lugano, Switzerland, June 12—Information has been received here from Italian sources that Italy has made an agreement with her Allies as to the extent of her offensive campaign. According to this information, which lacks official confirmation, the Italian government has undertaken to conduct operations of a character which will compel Austria and Germany to bring up and keep engaged an army of 1,000,000 men.

Italian operations have not been carried to the point necesitating the use by the central empires of an army of such size, but it is expected the development of the Italian campaign, beginning with the heavy fighting along the Isonzo River, will compel Italy's opponents to reinforce their armies largely.

The immediate Italian objectives are Trent, Trieste, and Villach, the provincial capital of Carinthia.

GERMAN JINGOES.

Americans in British Ships Entering the War Zone Must Take the Risk.

Amsterdam, June 12.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Kolnische Volkszeitung, a copy of which has been received here, says:

"Without doubt Mr. Lansing, in comparison with Mr. Bryan, is a man of very sharp tone, but the German press will do well not to inquire too anxiously whether he is a man of sharp or of peaceful tone.

"Our submarine war will not cease on that account. If American ships or Americans in British ships enter the war zone they must, despite Mr. Lansing and President Wilson, take the risk involved in such a voyage. America can claim the right to judge neutrals' rights only when she herself maintains neutrality. Such was not the case under the pacific. Mr. Bryan and probably will be just as little the case under the international law expert, Mr. Lansing."

FIRES FATAL SHOT

Policeman William A. Ferguson Commits Suicide This Morning

William A. Fergusson, one of the most popular members of the Alexandria police force, shot and instantly killed himself shortly after ten o'clock this morning at his residence 219 south Pitt street. He was in his bed-room at the time of the shooting and was alone. A few minutes previous he had been talking with his wife and daughter and gave no intimation that he was about to take his life.

The fatal shot was fired from his police revolver, the bullet taking effect in the brain just behind and above the right ear. His death must have been instantaneous.

Mr. Ferguson has been confined to his home for several days. For the past four years he has been a sufferer from bright's disease and latterly his condition has become more acute. It is thought that his physical condition preyed upon his mind and that he was temporarily insane at the time he did the shooting.

He had been a member of the police force for 23 years. Several times he had been offered promotions but always refused to become a candidate for the higher offices. Two years ago he was placed in charge of police headquarters as station keeper. He was a man of pleasing personality, courteous and obliging to all with whom he came in contact and an excellent police officer. He was universally liked by the members of the force and the public generally who will sincerely regret his unfortunate demise.

He was 53 years old and is survived by his wife, two sons, William and Gorman Ferguson, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. J. T. Martin. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and the Red Men.

UNITED STATES IS READY FOR ACTION

Wilson Preparing to Handle Perplexing Mexican Situation

NOT TO LEAVE BORDER

Summary Action Will be Taken Against Execution of Two Americans Recently Convicted.

Washington, June 12.—Possible interference by local Mexican officials along the border with plans of the Red Cross to distribute through American consular officers and its own agencies food supplies to famine threatened Mexican people is the reason for orders from the War Department to delay the departure of three regiments from the border to the Philippines.

The American troops cannot cross the border without instructions from Washington, but in view of the possibility of resistance by the Mexican officals, the War Department intends to have at hand means to enforce any instructions that may be given by President Wilson.

The American consul at Juarez has been instructed to insist that no summary measures be taken by Mexican officials against George Marks and S. Franklin, under death sentence for alleged circulation of counterfeit money. The consular reports the men "presumably" Americans, have been found guilty by a military court. He was instructed to insist that the execution be stayed until the State Department examine the evidence.

Washington, June 12—With the German situation in abeyance for probably a forthnight, the Administration today turned its attention to affairs in Mexico. Within ten days or two weeks, according to reliable reports, some definite action supplementing President Wilson's warning to the various factions in Mexico to "compose their differences" will be forthcoming.

Will Quit Work Tomorrow if Their Demands Are Not Met.

Every Surface and Elevated Line in the Windy City Said to be Affected in Proposed Walkout.

Chicago, June 12—D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Electric Employes, after two hous' conference with the heads of the local unions yesterday, declared the only thing that would prevent a strike of the 14,500 employes of the surface and elevated railroads Sunday would be a positive assurance of substantial increases of pay and improved working conditions.

Mahon came here from Detroit at the request of Mayor Thompson, and a final conference with the Mayor will be held today. The strike, which was to have gone into effect at 9 o'clock last night, was postponed until after the conference at the request of Mahon.

"My presence in Chicago in no way removes the danger of a strike," said Mahon. "Mayor Thompson must inform me today that the men will be given a substantial wage increase or I shall not interfere with the determination of the men to strike."

Union officials have expressed themselves as opposed to any arbitration. One high official of the surface men's union, said the subject of arbitration would not enter future discussions.

BRYAN BECOMES GENERAL TARGET.

Republican papers seem to be more severe on the course of W. J. Bryan than those of the democratic persuasion. They also show their faith in Woodrow Wilson at this time. The following is taken from the Baltimore American:

"Now, William Jennings Bryan, after having eaten the official salt of the President's table, has gone forth to take advantage of the hospitality extended to him to become a member of the official family of the President, to seek to create a public sentiment counter to that which had guided Mr. Wilson. He will address himself to classes, sets and factions, seeking to create divisions according to the marplotish nature of one whose estimate of his time is expressed in terms of his own self consequence. Being gifted with but two talents— neither of them of a high intellectual or ethical order—political astuteness and oratorical ability, he doubtless can create trouble. This may serve the ends of his specialized conscience. It will disgust the consciences of the thoughtful Americans.

"Acts of conscience do not absolve the individual from liability. At a time when the highest expression of loyalty calls for support of the people's chief representative the one man who avowedly declares himself relieved from this patriotic consideration is William Jennings Bryan. At a time when the ends of true neutrality demand that the hyphen shall be suppressed he goes forth to preach a hyphenated patriotism. At a time when the country has delicate matters of adjustment to bring about with Germany he seeks to give Germany the impression that the country is divided. He seeks in fact to do what Huerta sought to do, and afterwards a foreign cabal attempted—to alienate the American people from their President. Both as schismatic and schemer he is beyond the pale of consideration by all persons who have elemental in them good taste and a sense of propriety. William Jennings Bryan is coming close to the borders of treason, and he may by insensible graduations reach that unenviable state in the present crisis of the country.

"If there is a place for this type of man in the American scheme of things, then the country has some radical defects in its social organization. But it is not to be believed that Bryan can weigh a moment in the scales with Wilson."

WHEN WAR WAS DIFFERENT.

The Gazette, after the torpedoing of the Lusitania by a German submarine, causing a frightful loss of life among non-combattants, called attention to the fact that Confederate ships of war, though generally termed pirates in the northern section of the country, always removed the crews and passengers of ships they captured before destroying them. The case of the capture of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Aerial and the Electric Spark, of the same line, were referred to. The Philadelphia Record says:

"Germany's methods of making war including the policy of terrorizing and killing civilians, as in Belgium; the use of poisonous gases, and the savage and brutal submarine warfare against defenseless vessels, have, naturally enough led to comparisons with the way in which Americans carried on hostilities during the civil war. Though that was half a century ago, when mankind was not supposed to have attained the present exalted state of chivalry, instincts were not suppressed. Captain Semmes, of the Confederata privateer Alabama, which wrought such devastation among Northern shipping, never sank a vessel without having previously taken off the crews and passengers, if there were any of the latter, in accordance with the rules of international law."

The same observance of humanitarian principles marked the Confederate side of the war:

As illustrative of a spirit different from that in control at Berlin an incident of our civil war is most instructive. In 1862, during the Peninsular campaign, when the Union troops were advancing on Richmond, General Rains, who commanded the rear guard of Longstreet's corps on its withdrawal from Yorktown, proposed to plant a number of explosive shells in the road along which the Army of the Potomac was expected to advance. General Longstreet, when the proposal was brought to his attention, forbade its execution on the ground that he did not "recognize it as a proper or effective method of war." The case was carried to the Confederate Secretary of War, who upheld Longstreet's decision.

WAITING TO BE PARTED.

Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, who arrived in Paris yesterday, said that she gathered from conversations with statesmen in England, Germany Austria and Italy that it would be most difficult to influence any of the belligerents for peace on account of the fear that the suggestion might be taken as a sign of military weakness. All felt that the suggestion must come from a neutral nation, preferably from the United States. Miss Addams regrets the question of Belgium is the greatest difficulty to be solved.

Many people have believed from the first that a conflict between the United States and Germany is improbable, basing their opinion upon the assumption that eventually this country will suggest a basis for peace upon which the belligerents may stand. In fact, the United States is the logical nation to perform this important part. Hence it would be a decided blunder on the part of Germany to place America with the allies. At some future time the warring nations will have exhausted themselves and the United States will be in a position, by preserving her neutrality, to aid in binding up the wounds received by the respective combattants.

LABOR AND PATRIOTISM.

The President of the American Federation of Labor as was stated in the Gazette yesterday, says that while the great organization he represents stands for peace, it cannot permit to be challenged the insistency of President Wilson that the lives of American shall not be unnecessarily and unwarrantably jeopardized. The organization repudiates the peace-at-any-price principle. This statement will prove disquieting to Mr. Bryan, as it separates from the sphere of his influence the multi-millions upon whom he had counted. In his defection from the President.

Labor very properly perceives that the best exponent of peace is the President and that the one sure course to follow is the course that he, as the representative of American sentiments, shall pursue.

England, while struggling to maintain her position in the world, is beset by labor troubles, which cause great anxiety to those now at the head of the government It is gratifying to note that the toiling millions in the United States are backing the President in his contention with Germany.

Despondent over the recent death of a child, Mrs. Harry Ennis, wife of a carpet maker of Wakefield, Mass., is alleged to have given her four remaining children poison yesterday and then to have cut her throat with a razor. Theodore Roosevelt, in a signed statement received in New Orleans last night from Breton Island, La., pledges his support to the President in all steps which he may take to uphold the honor and the interest of the United States.

So long and bitter was the fight on a resolution for a reduction of 30 per cent. in the salaries of the officers of the Supreme Conclave of the Improved Order of Heptasophs in the annual meeting in Richmond yesterday that the election of officers was continued until today. The amendment to the by-laws calling for a reduction in the salaries of all officers was finally passed by a vote of 230 to 228.

The German submarine No. 51, which sank the British battleships Majestic and Triumph at the Dardanelles, was not shipped to Turkey by rail and there reassembled, as reported from time to time, but it made the perilous voyage around Western Europe and past the great Anglo-French fleet in the Aegean Sea. The distance traversed by the No. 51 was 5,000 miles.

W. J. BRYAN'S PLAN

Former Congressman Would Leave It to The People to Declare War

Washington, June 12—Former Secretary Bryan has issued a statement expressing his gratification over what he termed a change in the tone of the press regarding the American note to Germany. The statement follows:

"I am glad to note the change in the tone of the press in regard to the note to Germany. From the time the papers began to publish forecasts dow down to yesterday, the jingo editors have been predicting that the matter would be dealt with with great firmness:' that Germany would be told that there must be no more delay in the acceptance of this country's demands, etc.

"Instead of waiting until the note was issued, they put their own construction upon it in advance and colored it to suit their own purposes It is a relief to find the papers now emphasizing the friendly tone of the note and pointing out that it does not necesarily mean war.

"Something has been gained if the warrior journalists at last realize that the country does not want war, but that, on the contrary, it will support the President in his efforts to find a peaceful solution of the difficult problem raised by the use of the submarine against merchantmen."

The former secretary, giving out his formal statement, supplemented it with the following anecdote:

"A congressman replying to a jingo speech, recently said:

"'While I am personally against war. I am in favor of the country having what it wants. If the country wants war, let it have war, but let it first find out if the country does want war. If it becomes necessary to ascertain the sentiment of the country I suggest that a ballot be taken; let those who want war vote for war, and those opposed to war, vote against it, and let the vote be taken with the understanding that those who vote for war will enlist for war, and that those who vote against war will not be called upon until after those who want war have exhausted their efforts'

"I still believe," added Mr. Bryan, "in the right of the people to rule and think the congressman's suggestion might insure deliberate action on the part of the voters."

Mr. Bryan was reminded the suggestion of some of his friends that in case of war he should be one of the first to enlist.

"I do not want to talk about war, but on one occasion I enlisted to defend my country on the first day war was declared," he replied.

VOYAGE FULL OF THRILLS.

Ship is Chased by Zeppelin, Submarine And Aeroplane.

After being attacked in succession by a Zeppelin, a submarine and a German aeroplane, the Cork Steamship Company's ship Lestris has reached Rotterdam safely from Liverpool.

"There were more thrills packed into this short voyage than ever before befell seamen," declared the captain on landing. "The first part of the trip was uneventful, but as we neared the Dutch coast things began to happen. First came a Zeppelin, which attacked us before daybreak one morning, dropping 20 or 30 bombs. Considering that we carried all the regulation lights we were lucky not to be hit.

"Soon after sun-up, having lost the Zeppelin in the haze, we sighted a submarine half amile away. She gave chase, but we sent every man to the stokehold and steered a zigzag course, so that the submarine quit the pursuit after half an hour's hard work.

"It was a little later in the same day that an aeroplane favored us. She circled overhead several times and dropped two bombs, but her ammunition was evidently scarce, and she didn't stay with us long. Neither bomb came close to us."

MIDDIES BEFORE COURT

State Their Views as to Examination Dope

Annapolis, Md., June 12—Yesterday, for first time since the opening of the court of inquiry, midshipmen were called to the stand, so that their viewpoint on several phrases of the matter involved was had, and expert testimony was given as to the different kind of examination dope, how it is obtained, how disseminated and used and the feeling of the midshipmen as a whole upon the subject.

The introduction of midshipmen as witnesses at this time interrupts, in some measure, the regular development of the facts which the court seeks, and was done as a result of the directions from the Secretary of the Navy, that the court should keep in mind the desirability of the practice squadron, now delayed nearly a week, getting started on its trip to the San Francisco Exposition. The court will atempt to call all the officers and midshipmen stationed on the ships as promptly as possible, so that the original plan for the practice squadron may be carried out.

The testimony of these midshipmen, who though having a considerable portion of the substance at least of the examinations in advance were not punished by the Naval Academy officials, brought out the position of the authorities in the matter, as well as the attitude of the midshipmen themselves. All of them admitted that they had dope in advance. Three sources were admitted—marked sentences for translation in a book, information given directly or by intimation by instructors in classrooms and written down, and oral suggestions from other midshipmen. It was the general opinion that the dope for the language examination was good this year and that it was widely disseminated. The estimates were that from 50 to 70 per cent. of the examination was known in advance.

The testimony of the midshipmen established that it was quite posible for midshipmen to secure distinct advantages according to the tendency of the instructor of their section to be liberal or close with his hints. For instance, one instructor pointed out to his section about 75 per cent of 180 or 200 sentences which were for translation, and told them to study those, thus reducing the volume of work by more than half. The midshipmen of other sections did not secure any hints from their instructors.
